A bit of an animal

Not all watches are made equal. When you're pushing yourself to the limit Animal's limited edition Pipeline Tide Watch comes into its own, surpassing all competitors

When it comes to freestyle watersports – surfing, kitesurfing, windsurfing, and free diving – you need to wear a watch that delivers. Anything less could cost you dearly, which is why you should be one of the 500 owners of the Animal Pipeline Tide Watch. It's a range of limited edition, individually numbered timepieces. Each one is made from rock-solid 316 marine-grade stainless steel. This ultimate sports watch comes with a dedicated tide display for any wave break, wherever you are in the world. With a concealed extension link to be used over a wetsuit, 120-step unidirectional time/compass bezel, countdown timer, 1/100th second stopwatch and 100m water-resistancy, this watch is packed with all the extreme sport technology you need. And by asking new owners for their 'rider refining feedback', future Pipeline watches will be even more finely tuned and sports specific. Use the 'Fin Key' tool to flip the strap from stainless steel to hi-tech webbing and back again, it's as easy as taking a tumble from your board. This watch isn't just life-saving kit, it's a great looking timepiece to wear anytime, anywhere. Go to animal.co.uk for more info.
